

SI C1350 single row antistatic bar 1350 mm alu

SI C1350 is a single row of anti-static bar which is used for discharging static electricity from surfaces. Typical applications are the unloading of sheets of paper and bows in printing, packaging production and plastic production. Wherever materials due to electrostatic charges cannot be processed or moved. The swepro Antistatic bars are built to customer requirements. The single row antistatic bar has a compact design with a cross section of 15x30mm. The following standard lengths are available: 250mm / 450mm / 650mm / 950mm / 1350mm / 1750mm. Other lengths of up to 2950mm can be realized.

Technical data

Item number	941024
Weight	1,1 kg
Dimensions LxWxH	1350x15x30 mm
Material	Aluminium